

THE CONTINENTAL DOSSIER

SUBJECT: JOHN WICK (BABA YAGA) – GLOBAL NETWORK & INTERACTION LOG

SUBJECT NAME	John Wick	ALIAS	Baba Yaga / The Boogeyman
AFFILIATION	Excommunicado (Formerly High Table / Tarasov Mob)	THREAT LEVEL	EXTREME (Tactical Class-1)

1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This document tracks the sophisticated web of allegiances, debts, and hostile engagements surrounding tactical operator John Wick. Wick's operational capability relies heavily on a deeply entrenched ecosystem of underworld institutions, blood oaths (Markers), and longstanding personal relationships that span across global branches of the Continental network.

2. PRIMARY UNDERWORLD ANCHORS & GOVERNANCE

Wick's interaction with major power brokers defines his survival trajectory. Despite structural non-compliance, key administrative figures routinely balance High Table directives against historic individual loyalties.

Winston Scott

ACTIVE

MANAGER OF THE NEW YORK CONTINENTAL / STRATEGIC ALLY

Interaction Dynamics: Winston represents Wick's most significant institutional shield. Their relationship is built on mutual respect and shared defiance of the High Table's rigid bureaucracy. While Winston enforces Continental rules outwardly, he frequently exploits legal loopholes to give Wick tactical advantages—most notably granting a one-hour grace window prior to executing Wick's global Excommunicado order.

Charon

DECEASED

CONCIERGE, NEW YORK CONTINENTAL

Interaction Dynamics: More than just administrative support, Charon provided unyielding logistical and operational loyalty. He safely guarded Wick's canine companion and stood shoulder-to-shoulder with Wick defending the New York hotel against High Table enforcement units. His termination by the Marquis de Gramont served as a primary catalyst for Wick's absolute crusade against the current executive leadership.

The Bowery King

ACTIVE

UNDERGROUND INTELLIGENCE OVERLORD

Interaction Dynamics: Rooted in a historical encounter where Wick spared his life, their relationship is highly transactional yet deeply loyal. The Bowery King operates a sprawling off-grid surveillance network that provides Wick with intelligence, safe housing, and high-tier ballistic weaponry. Both share a common goal: the subversion of the High Table's absolute authority.

3. THE BLOOD OATH NETWORK (MARKERS)

In the underworld economy, a Marker is an immutable contract bound by blood. Wick's historical use of these instruments dictated both his forced re-entry into the assassin syndicate and his eventual path to structural freedom.

Santino D'Antonio

DECEASED

CAMORRA CRIME LORD / MARKER HOLDER

Interaction Dynamics: D'Antonio held the blood debt that enabled Wick's original retirement. Years later, he forcefully cashed in the Marker, ordering Wick to assassinate his sister, Gianna D'Antonio. This interaction showcases the severe, trapping nature of underworld obligations; Wick was structurally bound to obey, yet D'Antonio betrayed him immediately afterward to clear his own tracks, ultimately driving Wick to break sanctuary rules and execute him on Continental grounds.

Sofia Al-Azwar

UNKNOWN

MANAGER OF THE CASABLANCA CONTINENTAL

Interaction Dynamics: The inverse of the D'Antonio dynamic. Wick held a Marker against Sofia, forcing her to risk her life and standing to guide him to the Elder. Despite severe personal resentment regarding the danger it posed to her daughter, Sofia honored the blood oath, illustrating that the absolute authority of the Marker overrides personal safety and past friendships.

4. TACTICAL PEERS: COMRADES AND ENFORCERS

Wick's peers are divided between individuals bound by institutional duty to hunt him, and lifelong allies who choose execution over betrayal.

Caine

ACTIVE

BLIND HIGH TABLE OPERATIVE / OLD FRIEND

Interaction Dynamics: A tragic mirror to Wick, Caine was coerced by the High Table into hunting John to protect his daughter's life. Their interactions represent a profound paradox: they maintain deep mutual respect and affection as old brothers-in-arms, yet actively deploy lethal force against one another. Their conflict culminates in a formal High Table duel, where tactical calculation and mutual sacrifice exploit the rules to secure both of their freedoms.

Shimazu Koji

DECEASED

MANAGER OF THE OSAKA CONTINENTAL

Interaction Dynamics: Koji represented the pinnacle of honor within Wick's circle. When Wick arrived in Osaka as an international fugitive, Koji unhesitatingly breached High Table protocol to grant him sanctuary, stating that "friendship means something." This loyalty cost Koji his life in a blade duel against Caine, further compounding Wick's internal weight of collateral damage.

Marcus

DECEASED

VETERAN SNIPER / MENTOR FIGURE

Interaction Dynamics: During the initial New York contract on Wick's head, Marcus was hired to execute him. Instead, he acted as a hidden guardian angel, using his sniper rifle to disrupt ambushes and save Wick's life multiple times. This ultimate act of mentorship and loyalty resulted in his torture and execution by Viggo Tarasov.

OPERATIONAL OBSERVATION: THE COST OF ASSOCIATION

Analysis of Wick's network indicates a near-total mortality rate for individuals who choose to honor personal relationships over High Table mandates. Wick's interactions are defined by a pattern where his survival directly correlates with the systemic destruction of the sanctuaries and allies supporting him.